HOUSE.

Report of Mormon battalion monument commission. Special order of business for 3 o'clock.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 17.—Initial steps for the reorganization of the state government will probably be begun in the legislative mills this week, the aim of the Republican lawmakers being to evolve a system in which both economy and efficiency shall be better attained than under the present state government machinery. None of the numerous bills being advocated in working out this plan has as yet been introduced. Bills covering a majority of the proposed topics, however, are already in the hands of the legislators and will probably be introduced during the present week.

DIVIDE WORK

Representatives of the senate and of the house have divided the work between the two branches, it being the intention, if possible, to have the house working on one part of the reorganization plan while the senate is on another.

Senator George H. Dern, Democratic floor leader, was one of the legislative committee present Friday when the reorganization plan was explained by members of the informal advisory committee which has been at work on that problem. Asked as to the attitude of the Democrats on the reorganization plans, he said:

"The Democrats will be glad to help in anything that will tend to cut down expenses of government without incurring inefficiency. While I heard the explanation given to the committee, I have not studied the plan in detail. Reduction in expenditures for government, however, was a part of the Democratic as well as of the Republican platform, and I believe that the Democrats will be found earnest supporters of any change where it can be shown that a saving will be effected without too great loss of efficiency. At first glance, there are at least some of the measures where the Democrats will have to be shown, but I, for one, am ready to be shown, and in favor of all proper reductions of expenses.

Some of the proposed measures will probably be introduced by individual members of the legislature. Others will, in all likelihood, come from committees, and it is understood that the senate committee on public affairs will father several of the important measures, including the considerable number having to do with the establishment of a department of finance and purchase.

REAPPORTIONMENT

Formally, however, reorganization is not yet before the legislature. One of the big subjects already touched on is reapportionment of the legislative districts. There are two bills with this aim before the senate committee on public affairs. The authors, Senators J. W. Peters and George H. Dern, are respectively chairman and member of the committee. In view of the importance of the subject, it came before the public affairs committee later in the session in connection with the reorganization plan. It is quite probable that the committee will be asked to give early and speedy consideration to the reapportionment measures. The bills introduced are due from the printer this morning.

Today is the eighth legislative day. Whether the clock is stopped or not, there can be a maximum of only six legislative days. The regular session of the fourteenth legislature, therefore, is one-eighth over already. While six bills have been introduced in the senate, there is no particular reason for forecasting that this senate will introduce any fewer measures than its predecessors, which have run of late anywhere between 140 and 200. While against the two resolutions already introduced, it is quite probable that the total will be at least twenty before the session expires. However, the first week of the session has served to create the machinery of legislation and get it into what appears to be fair running order. If this appearance is borne out when the test comes later in the session, it will prove to have been a week well spent.

BOTH HOUSES READY

The senate convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A report is due from the committee on revision and printing, and another from the committee on engineering and enrolling. The senate has previously decided that it would this afternoon fix a time to hear from Mrs. May Belle Thurman Davis of the house relative to the report of the Mormon Battalion monument commission, of which she is secretary. Some of the senators have been at work Saturday and Sunday perfecting bills they have had in mind for some time. But the big attempt will be to have the decks reasonably clear for action on the reorganization measures, and those on taxation, should any be offered.

The house session was called to open at 2 p. m. Action on the report of the Mormon Battalion monument commission is made a special order of business for 3 o'clock, but it is expected that many bills that were held up pending the appointment of committees will be offered before adjournment.

The first week of the fourteenth legislature, so far as the house of representatives is concerned, started off with a speed that promises to make a record. Organization, with the exception of the appointment of committees, was completed on the second day and two bills and one resolution were presented before committees had been appointed to examine them.

The appropriation bill for the expenses of the legislature, entitled Senate bill No. 1, is the only measure that has passed both houses and has been signed by the governor. It is the only appropriation measure that can be offered until the budget bill has been acted upon. The budget probably will be presented before the end of this week, for Governor Mabe has been working on it ever since he took office.

Two bills were introduced in the house during the week, one providing for the appointment by the governor of railroad police and the other providing for Rich county roads to be known as state roads. This latter bill was withdrawn Friday, by unanimous consent, because it was said to be faulty in construction, and it will be presented again this week, it was said yesterday by its sponsor, Representative Norris of Rich county.

House and joint rules were adopted by the house Thursday and a house resolution calling for an investigation of the killing of a person on Antelope island was adopted under suspension of the rules. Friday the house standing committees were announced and everything virtually completed for the beginning of a busy session this week.

POSTAL STRIKE IN AUSTRIA ENDS

Disorders Attend Tieup of Mail, Telephone and Telegraph Services

VIENNA, Jan. 17.—The strike of workers in the telegraph and telephone branches of the postoffice department, which was settled Saturday night, tied up the mail service for three days and telegraphic and telephonic communication one day. The Social Democratic members of the department, who are in the majority, inaugurated the movement and under the terms of settlement, the government has conceded their demand for promotion by qualification, rather than length of service, and small increases in pay. The government's concession does not apply to the Christian Socialist minority among the employees, however, the latter remaining under the old system.

Considerable disorder attended the strike, a number of persons being wounded in police charges on strikers. The government was influenced by a desire to prevent the highly tense situation extending until January 20, the date set for the technical trades for fulfillment of their threats to bring about internal reforms by force.

The Christian Socialists charge that the whole affair was inspired by the opposition in parliament to harass the government and keep the populace in a state of discontent.

What was considered a significant feature of the situation was the action of the communist element in the army, which in public meetings, declared it would support the strikers if the military should be called upon.

EXILED PRINCE TELLS HIS WOES

German Heir Tied to Dutch Island Can't See Wife or Young Sons

THE HAGUE, Jan. 17.—Frederick William, former crown prince of Germany, in an interview given the editor of a German weekly published in the Netherlands, tells why he does not return to Germany, why his wife does not join him at Wieringen, and why he does not join his father at Doorn. He also sets forth his plans regarding the education of his sons.

"I would be glad to return to Germany and I would be happy if I could devote myself to agriculture, particularly horse breeding," he is quoted as saying. "I would rejoice to associate with the learned men at Breslau university and regain what I lost. I would like to help build up the fatherland, but that cannot be."

"My many friends would see my hand in every deed which others might begin but of which I, perhaps, would know nothing. Unrest would follow and our poor fatherland needs rest."

"Why does not my wife come here? Believe me, she would gladly do so. But there is no chance of such happiness. She has the training of our children here and must see to it. Our sons must learn to make themselves useful commercially. Wilhelm and Luitpold are now going to the gymnasium at Potsdam. The elder wants to become an expert farmer. Luitpold feels that he has the talent for a mercantile career and is planning a tour of the world in a German merchant ship, and to learn modern languages. They are studying hard. They need a father's care, but that cannot be."

"I cannot go to my parents. Our opponents are trying to put us in the position of being ready to set the world on fire and if we were together, then in the eyes of our opponents, the overthrow of the world would be a question of but a short time."

"As for buying an estate in Holland, where would I get the money, particularly in view of the low rate of German exchange?"

Would your husband marry you again?

For 3,000 years supreme
Palm and olive oils were Cleopatra's cosmetics. They were the luxuries of the Greek and Roman baths.

They were the basis of all ancient beauty. Now modern experts go overseas to get them, and blend them for you in this scientific way.

There never has been, and never will be, anything to match them for the skin.

Other soaps cost five times more

There are soaps which cost five times as much as Palmolive. Most facial soaps are higher priced. But there are no soap ingredients more costly than palm and olive oils. There is nothing so luxurious. It is only because we make it for millions that Palmolive sells at 10c. Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the demand. The costly oils are bought in enormous quantities. Result, the popular 10-cent price and the most popular toilet soap in the world.

Fortunate is the woman who can answer "yes." But many a woman, if she is honest with herself, is forced to be in doubt—after that she pays stricter attention to her personal attractions.

A radiant skin, glowing and healthy, is more than a "sign" of youth. It is youth. And any woman can enjoy it.

Beauty's basis is pure, mild, soothing soap. Never go to sleep without using it. Women should never overlook this all-important fact. The basis of beauty is a thoroughly clean skin. And the only way to it is soap.

There is no harm in cosmetics, or in powder, rouge, if you frequently remove them. Never leave them on overnight.

The skin consists of countless glands and pores. They clog with oil, with dirt, with perspiration—with refuse from within and without.

The first requirement is to cleanse those pores. And soap alone can do that.

A costly mistake
Harsh, irritating soaps have led many women to omit soap. That is a costly mistake. A healthy, rosy, clear, smooth skin must be a clean skin, first of all.

There is no need for irritating soap. Palmolive soothes and softens while it cleans. It is based on palm and olive oils.

Force the lather into the pores by a gentle massage. Every touch is balmy. Then all the foreign matter comes out in the rinsing.

If your skin is very dry, use cold cream before and after washing.

No medicaments

Palmolive is just a soothing, cleansing soap. Its blandness comes through blending palm and olive oils. Nothing since the world began has proved so suitable for delicate complexions.

All its beneficial effects come through gentle, thorough cleansing. There are no medicaments. No drugs can do what Nature does when you aid her with this scientific Palmolive cleansing.

Millions of women get their envied complexions through the use of Palmolive soap.
